Premiere of the Leap! Movie at the Fort Collins Lincoln Center

Leap! beyond the illusion and limitations of the human experience
Learn from famous spiritual visionaries and philosophers who explore “myths” about reality
Sponsored by Bella Spark Productions and the Healing Path Magazine

LOVELAND, CO, November 5, 2008: What if someone told you life as you know it is an illusion, including your home, family and friends, job, and your “limitations”? What if there was a way to break free and live from inspiration, to explore all areas of your life as the infinite being you truly are?

That is what the movie Leap! wants people to consider. On Tuesday December 2nd at the Lincoln Center in Fort Collins, Colorado, Leap! Ventures is debuting their film Leap! It features interviews with over 20 people, including Dan Millman, Gary Renard, Robert Scheinfeld, Fred Alan Wolf, James Twyman, Joe Vitale as well as local spiritual leaders. The film uses ancient and modern philosophies to help people explore the idea of life as an illusion, and how to embrace that idea to transform your human experience.

Leap! The Movie

The film delves into the idea of “reality,” and the ageless theory “the world is an illusion.” Leap! is a unique blend of science, psychology, philosophy and spirituality. The featured interviews offer insight on the benefits of viewing life as an illusion, and demonstrate how to change core perceptions to live from inspiration. This philosophy is not about denying the physical experience, but leaping beyond the limitations and restrictions that illusion appears to impose. Most importantly, the film explores all elements of the human experience, and offers ways for viewers to “wake up” from the dream and live a life of unimaginable joy, peace and freedom.

What makes this movie so different?

It's not about visualization, manifestation or creating with intention. It is a complete paradigm shift in how you can live your life from a deep knowing of your true self. Leap! shows each of us what amazing, creative beings we are in all areas of our life. It offers a variety of different perspectives from spiritual visionaries and philosophers who have come to similar conclusions. It shows that taking responsibility for all the “good” and “bad” things in our life is the first step to true freedom, and you can leap beyond the limitations of the human experience.
